

About Neelam

Neelam (a Hindi name meaning "blusapphire") is a Certified Dream Coach® specializing in inspiring and empowering people to live a life of their dreams that is in alignment with who they are on an authentic level. Through self-expression, self-discovery, and a shift in observation, blusapphire supportively holds a space for conscious learning and transformation.

What is a Certified Dream Coach?

A Certified Dream Coach® is a form of life coaching with a specific emphasis on helping you find your passion & purpose, clarifying your dreams, and overcoming your doubts and obstacles.

I will support you in designing the projects, strategies and action steps so that you're dreams can be realized. I will help you speak powerfully about your dream so that when you do share your dreams with other people they are inspired to help you. I will assist you in getting what you desire personally and professionally through a 10 step process.

How blusapphire can help you:

- ✓ My dream is to accept and move on from a break up or divorce so I can start building a new life for myself.
- ✓ My dream is to break free from cultural, religious, or familial upbringings that make me unhappy as I want to start living my life not someone else's life!
- ✓ My dream is to wake up every day feeling ALIVE, passionate, and thankful for the life I have.
- ✓ My dream is to know who I am and what I want out of life or what life wants from me!
- ✓ My dream is to live a balanced life where I can enjoy work and also have the energy and desire to enjoy time with friends and family.

Testimonials:

Your coaching helped me to think about things in my life differently, be more open to the ability to change thought patterns and direction. I feel less blocked and overwhelmed and more confident. Thanks so much for helping me on my path.

Through our coaching, I learned to stop and think more before reacting. I began to focus more on the positive and became more aware and mindful of how I was thinking and whether that served me.
